(SHRIMATI JAYAWANTI MEHTA)

(a) & (b) : No, Sir. The Feasibility Report for setting up of a combined cycle gas power project of 800 MW capacity at Farrukhabad in Uttar Pradesh was submitted by National Thermal Power Corporation to Central Electricity Authority and Ministry of Power in December, 1990. Natural gas, as primary fuel, of about 4 MCMD from HBJ pipeline was required for operation of the project on base load. However, the project had to be abandoned due to non-availability of gas.
